Dear Harry:

A Forum on National Energy Policy is being planned by Brookings from December 14 to 16, 1982. The Forum is designed to provide business and government leaders an opportunity to probe energy issues and policies and to explore future outlooks. Central to the discussion is the issue of security of energy resources to the U. S., energy alternatives, legislative perspectives, and R&D.

I have invited Jim Schlesinger to keynote the conference on December 14 and provide a world outlook in context with the program focus. I plan to invite Senator McClure and Congressman Dingell to address legislative issues. This will be followed by an intensive day and a half focused upon specific energy issues, e.g., demand projections, pricing, nuclear, coal and gas, etc.

Harry, we would be privileged if you could join us as a resource leader for a discussion of Energy Demand Projections: U. S. and World Outlook on December 15 from 9:15 a.m. to 10:40 a.m. here at Brookings. As indicated, I would be pleased to form a panel and invite an industry person, e.g., Mel Conant, so as to spread the subject responsibility somewhat. The audience is made up of business and government persons, including some from intelligence. We do not expect any non-U. S. citizens. The presentations are informal and off-the-record. They are about 30 minutes, followed by a discussion period, also off-the-record. As indicated, I hope the authorities there will agree to your acceptance. You can provide important depth to our explorations.
